This Bash script reads lines from input.txt, performs calculations based on the given operation (xor, product, and compare), creates a new directory named result and stores the results in output.txt.

Usage:

Place the script in the same directory as input.txt.
To Run the script we need : ./q3.sh